SUNDOWN LIGHTING & ELECTRICAL HELPS THE CITY OF IRVINE MAKE THEIR PARKS SAFER

RANCHO SANTA MARGARITA, CALIFORNIA- May 18, 2004- In September 2003, a high school cross country runner was struck and injured by a light pole that had broken off from its cement base in Alton Park, Irvine.

Sundown Lighting & Electrical contacted The City of Irvine officials to help by providing both a more cost-effective approach and a more durable method for pole replacement

The new method won the approval of the City, which saved money and helped make its parks safer with Sundown's process of pole replacement.

Sundown's pole replacement method can save a city thousands of dollars and is proven to be many times stronger than required by code.
